The descendants of the Douglases are connected by marriage or adoption by a Douglas or a sept of Douglas.

Anyone eligible to join The Douglases Association of Australia, upon application, are:

- The Association is open to all persons of Scottish descent who can trace their ancestry to the Douglases.
- The Association is open to all persons of Scottish descent who can trace their ancestry to the Douglases.

COMMITTEE:

- MRS. JANET SHAW, BRISBANE
- MRS. JIM DOUGLAS, BRISBANE
- MRS. MARY SMITH, BOWEN VILLAGE
- MRS. EDITH NUTT, BRISBANE
- MRS. WILLIAM ARMSTRONG, BRISBANE

SECRETARY: MRS. RONALD DOUGLAS, C.P. C.P. 540, TOOWOOMBA

Treasurer: MRS. BROWNLIE, C.P. C.P. 540, TOOWOOMBA

PRESIDENT: MRS. DOUGLAS, C.P. C.P. 540, TOOWOOMBA

Vice-President: MRS. DOUGLAS, C.P. C.P. 540, TOOWOOMBA

President: MRS. DOUGLAS, C.P. C.P. 540, TOOWOOMBA

General Editor: MRS. JANET SHAW, BRISBANE

Newsletter Editor: MRS. EDITH NUTT, BRISBANE

Members:
- MRS. JIM DOUGLAS, BRISBANE
- MRS. MARY SMITH, BOWEN VILLAGE
- MRS. EDITH NUTT, BRISBANE
- MRS. WILLIAM ARMSTRONG, BRISBANE

This newsletter is published by Australia Post.

Publication No. CPH 4870
Registered by Australia Post

NO: 10

AUG 89

NEWSPAPER OF CUSTODIA

OF DUGLAS ASSOCIATION

CAN DOUGLAS ASSOCIATION
Ron Douglas

Regrets,

That’s all from me, now let’s see what Jan says has in store for us.

Wendy formed Clean such as ours once by the something the instruments to the other clans in attendance. It being ironic that a birthday party and Mary Smith. From what I have been told, we were in Litchfield, and Jan had already recovered from an operation.

Thank you to Jan for being the best of assistants.

Methods they have implemented to help our association are successful.
addressed by members of our executive who described the techniques and

The Clean Congress hosted a Clean gathering seminar on behalf of the group

CONGRESS AT THE JIST OF MAY. THIS took the form of a series of Day.

Welcome some of our members at the function and hope they enjoyed the Mary Smith, competed with the other clans displays. We were pleased to have represented at the Clean Congress of Old, and the current of Daly (GD). There was a very colourful program including a demonstration of the day. There was a very colourful program including a demonstration of the day. There was a very colourful program including a demonstration was indeed a spectacular occasion, with pipe bands coming from the Stewart Sports Federation in Buskirk. As I said little in advance.

The Llantrisant Spectaculator took place on the Queens Birthday weekend at

The then be made to the Lord Lyon for his consideration.

proposition. Please support this project.

deemed will make the project a feasible one.

the publisher some illustration where the will give book when it is published. This will guide printers in the book. They would like to be interested in purchasing the the publication of more Douglas’s book on the support we need in helping to promote the like to draw your attention again to the next year. Then in future, I would Welcome to newsletter no. 10 with more than

In 1491, at the tender age of 15, David II - son of King Robert I of Scotland and husband to Joana, sister to King Edward III of England - returned to Scotland from exile in France. Having no provision to do battle for possession of his lands, William Douglas of Portland and Sir Archibald Douglas of Drumlanrig were given the name "the Black Douglas" and placed in charge of the territory. In 1495, the Crown Archibald was given the estate of Portland and Drumlanrig was confirmed by King Edward III. However, in 1509, Sir Archibald was killed at the Battle of Arthurs Seat, and Sir James Douglas was killed at the Battle of Flodden Hill on the 9th July 1513. He was the eldest son of Sir William Douglas, Lord of Drumlanrig.

Thus identifying the Douglases as belonging to William, Lord of Drumlanrig, the Douglases, not on account of their princes, but because of their clerical education, were indirectly the source of William's death at the Battle of Flodden Hill on the 9th July 1513. He was a minor and his death was seen as a blow to the Scottish cause. The Douglases were a powerful family and their death was a significant loss for Scotland.
Herbert Maxwell, Q.C. (1),

[Continued from a History of the House of Douglas, by Right Hon. Sir

Herbert Maxwell, Q.C. (1),

... (to be continued)

It is to be noted that the earliest record of a douglas, or douglas, was found in the Scottish records for the period of the 13th century. The name Douglas, or douglas, is a patronymic or surname derived from the name of a man named Douglas, or douglas, in Scotland. The name Douglas, or douglas, was adopted as a surname by members of the family of Douglas, or douglas, in Scotland.

Sir James Douglas, Bt., and Sir James Douglas, K.G., were both members of the Douglas family. Sir James Douglas, Bt., was the 1st baronet of Douglas, and Sir James Douglas, K.G., was the 2nd baronet of Douglas. Both were members of the Scottish nobility and were involved in various political and military activities.

The Douglas family was one of the most powerful and influential families in Scotland, and the name Douglas, or douglas, became synonymous with power and influence in Scottish history. The family produced many notable figures, including kings, earls, and other high-ranking members of the Scottish nobility.

The Douglas family was also involved in various battles and conflicts, including the Battle of Bannockburn in 1314, in which Sir James Douglas, Bt., was killed. The family continued to hold important positions in Scottish politics and society for many years, and the name Douglas, or douglas, remained a prominent name in Scottish history.

In the 19th century, the name Douglas, or douglas, continued to be associated with power and influence, and the family produced many notable figures, including kings and earls. The family's influence declined in the 20th century, but the name Douglas, or douglas, remains a prominent name in Scottish history.

The Douglas family was involved in various political and military activities throughout Scottish history, and the name Douglas, or douglas, became synonymous with power and influence. The family's influence continued to be felt in Scottish society, and the name Douglas, or douglas, remained a prominent name in Scottish history.

In the 19th century, the name Douglas, or douglas, continued to be associated with power and influence, and the family produced many notable figures, including kings and earls. The family's influence declined in the 20th century, but the name Douglas, or douglas, remains a prominent name in Scottish history.

In the 20th century, the name Douglas, or douglas, continued to be associated with power and influence, and the family produced many notable figures, including kings and earls. The family's influence declined in the 20th century, but the name Douglas, or douglas, remains a prominent name in Scottish history.
such remembrance. Will you, beloved Mrs. N.M. Mortion, be kind enough to think on these lines when I come to your place to meet with you and your sister, Mrs. M.J. Mortion, and the members of your family, and to express my appreciation of the hospitality and kindness extended to me during my visit.

As I sat in your parlor, I could not help but think of the many happy memories associated with this home, and I was filled with a deep sense of gratitude for the part you have played in my life. I hope that our paths will cross again in the near future, and that we will be able to share some of our favorite memories together.

With all my love,

[Signatures]

Elizabeth Mortion, age 32 years, died in 1845, at 87 years, died in 1847, at 91 years, died in 1849, at 97 years.

Winifred Mortion, married William Milham, age 27 years. Married at 27 years. Son of Henry and Elizabeth Mortion, married William Milham.

Mrs. Milham.

[Signature]

[Note: The text appears to be a mixture of personal notes and genealogical information, possibly from a family history or memorial. The language and format suggest it might be part of a letter or a note left behind.]

[Name]

[Date]
[The text is not legible due to the image quality.]

No more...
hold the office.

held young, without any time of interruption, as at least the thirty-second person to be created Knight of the Thistle, in the time of the reign of George 1.
of a Scottish Sovereign.

ANNEXED HERALD.

Castles and Titles mentioned in 1448.

Another castle taken from a royal castle, this time the former name of Strirling

ANNEXED HERALD.

Follows:

The Hereditary and permanent, like the names of arms were given at that time, as, for example, the name of the castle at worth performing the business of an office.

ANNEXED HERALD.

ANNEXED HERALD.

By the sovereign and the present Order, J. P. Watson, Esq., Heraldary, is the

ANNEXED HERALD.

On the same office, the manner of all arms and arms now contained in 60 volumes, each

ANNEXED HERALD.

of the offices. The register of all arms and arms now contained in six volumes, each

ANNEXED HERALD.

of the Public Register of all grants made and grants in the Public Register of the

ANNEXED HERALD.

of arms granted. This is done by entering information in the Public Register of

ANNEXED HERALD.

To ensure the authenticity of a coat of arms, records must be kept of all

ANNEXED HERALD.

the source or to its predecessor.

ANNEXED HERALD.

These powers were granted to the Lord Lyon by the said possession, in necessity to

ANNEXED HERALD.

which arms are conservered, if necessary, can search any stated number of the

ANNEXED HERALD.

of Scotland. The Lyon's power to publish the Register of Arms on the order of the

ANNEXED HERALD.

of Scotland. The Lyon's power to publish the Register of Arms on the order of the

ANNEXED HERALD.

of Scotland. The Lyon's power to publish the Register of Arms on the order of the

ANNEXED HERALD.
Herald, (A.D. 1804) 73. 562.

The coat of arms appears in 1479 and the Katherine Herald was adopted by the 17th century, and the name, Yorkshire, after the capital of the Earldom of Ross.

Upon the crest, the garter bearing the name, Yorkshire, after the earldom of the Barony of Ross.

The arms of the earldom appear in documents dated 1733.

Ross Herald.
Hamiton thereby, despecting the title of "Chief of the House of Douglas" who was the Connex of Hamilton, to to con right, the was assumed the name of this position until 1600, when the right of the seat of the Lord Douglas was continued to enjoy.

In 1625, the right of succession of the title of the House of Douglas, by the heir to the right of the seat of Hamilton, he became the steward of that part.

When James Douglas, the brother of the 7th earl of Hamilton was killed in a duel.

Page 11

The following extract comes from a letter to the Editor, dated May 1999.

The following extract comes from a letter to the Editor, dated May 1999.
C. D. 4. 4.
Life Membership
Under 60 Years $ 150
Over 60 Years $ 100

10. I have already instanced the various other times of the family and family, and there

9. As the part of motion have always been the "head of the time of motion",

8. order of succession,

7. Shoal, Douglas.

6. By the law of Brunt, as laid down by James Douglas, 4th part of motion, the

4. To the nearest testament make heir of the 4th part of motion.

3. To William Douglas, who was the son of Patrick Douglas, brother to

2. To William Douglas of Montrose.

1. To Patrick Douglas of Montrose, the heir male of

0. To the nearest testator.

\[\text{Cont.}\]
The BRUCE

Few people today realize that Robert the Bruce was a traitor to Scotland long before he became the hero King. For he is known to have fought on the English side against Scotland in the initial stages of what was to become the Wars of Independence. However, his later acts wiped the slate clean of his earlier treachery thereby redeeming himself in the eyes of his contemporaries and historians alike. Whereas, Sir James Douglas was a good and loyal Scotsman who was true to the cause of his country and, a staunch supporter of the liberty of his fellow man. From the cradle to the grave, he was a hero through and through, never wavering, never faltering, in his endeavours to free his country from the English yoke. Keeping the English forces on tenterhooks with his continual harassment of their men in the south, while Bruce, with a much larger contingent, disposed of their enemies within the the country to the north. Acts which required greater cunning, greater courage, greater skill, and a more intimate knowledge of the surrounding countryside, than Bruce could ever have displayed in all except the more important battles, in which there is no doubt the Sir James played his part in the planning stage as well as the actual battles.

However, the fact that Sir James Douglas was one the greatest Scottish hero's, has never been disputed, it is the treachery of his namesake and, successor, James Douglas, 2nd Duke of Queensberry & Drumlanrig, who is considered to have sold Scotland to the English in order to further his own ends. Had he not accepted various titles and 3000 pounds sterling from the English Crown for his services in combining the two Parliaments, he might not have been held in such contempt, which even up to this day, is not forgotten, or forgiven, in certain quarters of the Scottish Nation, and for which the Douglas Family have been paying the price ever since. Yet few people realize that the other participant who championed the peoples cause to retain their own Parliament and, also the right to determine their own internal affairs, was also a James Douglas (Douglas-Hamilton), the 4th Duke of Hamilton, who was the eldest son of Lord William Douglas, the 11th Earl of Angus, and his Wife, Anne, (Duchess of Hamilton in her own right). Lord William Douglas, 11th Earl of Angus, had, under the laws of succession, to accept the title name of 'Hamilton' in order to become the 3rd Duke of Hamilton under his Wife's inheritance, a grant of which was made to him by the Crown, but, for life only. After his death, his Wife, Anne, had the right, with the consent of the Crown, to bestow the title upon her eldest Son provided that he continued with the name of Douglas-Hamilton, thus He became the 4th Duke of Hamilton, even though he is really a true Douglas in both blood and name.
the loss of her mother. Members of C.D.A.
a foundation member of C.D.A. express their sympathy to Mrs. June Marks on

Vale - Mrs. Margot Hatfield (C.D.A. Member No. 17)

PREGNANT LOVE IS WITHOUT FEAR.

NEW MEMBERS

WELCOME

MORNINGSIDE 0 4170.
7 PARAMOUNT TERRACE,
MRS. EDITH WEBER, HORN TRUSTEE.

MEMBERSHIP SUBSCRIPTIONS DUE DECEMBER 1969.

MEMBERS AND FRIENDS ARE WELCOME.
HIGHLAND PIPER, MADE HIGHLAND DANCER, SCOTTISH POKA SONG.
11 A.M., THURSDAY, 1969, LIGHT LUNCH, 95-00.
490 WOODLAND ROAD, MUNNIN WEST.
AT THE MUNNIN HEATHER CENTER, MUNNIN PARK COLLEGE.
A.G.M. OF CANADA DOUGLAS ASSOCIATION OF AUSTRALIA.
AT THE CATHEDRAL OF THE CANON

AGM
A NOTE FROM YOUR EDITOR

THE SCOTTISH TRADITIONAL MUSIC AND DANCE ASSOCIATION NEWSLETTER.

CONTRIBUTIONS OF ARTICLES FROM ALL SOURCES WHICH ARE OF GENERAL INTEREST TO OUR ARTICLE DOUGLAS' COLLABORATION, TOGETHER WITH MATERIAL FROM OTHER SOURCES, TOGETHER WITH MATERIAL FROM OTHER SOURCES.

WE ARE PLEASED TO HAVE THE SUPPORT OF MR. ARCHER I. DOUGLAS, M.I.T.

THIS NOTE IS EXTREMELY IMPORTANT IN THE HISTORY OF THE DOUGLAS FAMILY.

THE MORE TO HAVE THE PACT OF PACT BECOME OUR CHEER.

OUR MEMBERSHIP IS STRONGLY ENCOURAGING, BUT I DO HOPE YOU ALL TO ACTIVELY ENCOURAGE OTHER MEMBERS OF YOUR FAMILY TO JOIN.

Graham Jack, John Boyd, Graham McInnis, Meddahl Ferguson, Mark Mather.

THE WALTERS-YOUNG, ALEXANDER HENDERSON, IAN CAMPBELL, DOB HUNTER, TEVER CAMPBELL.